EXHIBIT DATES
February 2 – March 31, 2012
SAN FRANCISCO, CA

The Paul Mahder Gallery presents a rare exhibit by one of Nicaragua's finest painters, Omar d'Leon along with new works by protégé, Andrea Yomtob.

Omar d'Leon is one of the most renowned painters and poets from Nicaragua in the last 50 years. D'Leon studied for nine years at the Escuela Nacional de Bellas Artes in Nicaragua under its director Rodrigo Penalba. His early inspirations were the frescoes of Pompeii, where he saw the use of cross-hatching and applied this technique to his love of the Impressionist school.

Andrea Yomtob, a graduate from Art Center College of Design, has been Omar's apprentice for the past 12 years.

This exhibit may be enjoyed through March 2012 during regular gallery hours of 10am – 7pm Monday through Saturday and Sunday, 1-5pm.

Birdie Flies Away / Pajarillo se va volando

By Kat Aragon
Illustrated by Andrea Yomtob

Children's Book for ages: 2-5
27 color pages, 10" x 8"

CHILDREN'S BOOK RELEASE!

The latest children's book illustrated by Andrea Yomtob, Birdie Flies Away, was released early 2012!

Birdie Flies Away is a bilingual book telling culturally relevant stories for Latino families. This is a story about how we all grow at our own pace. Some are ready to leave the nest early, while others need a little more time.

Published through Lectura Books, a company dedicated to making it possible for parents and their children to learn together. Reading bilingual books is one of the most effective ways to acquire transferable literacy skills.

Birdie Flies Away is available in libraries, schools, and in Lectura Books catalog online here: Bookstore
